

Tim Storme

Singer | Composer | France

Tim Storme is a young singer, guitarist and composer from Lille in France.

He started playing music as a child and composing his own pop-rock songs as a teenager.

After his first tour in 2017 in a group of covers, he decided to record his first songs. These are imbued with his passion for poprock.

Through his lyrics, he tries in his words to describe the world he lives in by combining abstract and day-to-day topics.

His sister Marion co-wrote the songs with him and regularly goes on stage with him and her piano.

In 2018, his EP "Strange Follower", mixing pop-rock and folk styles, is released.

Since then, he has made three French tours with his band. He performs in France and Belgium, alone, with a pianist or several musicians.

During these concerts, he covers songs of artists he's found of such as Keane, REM, Muse, Ed Sheeran etc ... and sings his own titles.
